

Research Promotion Schemes

In order to supplement the enabling research ecosystem Jamia Hamdard has several schemes to promote research at the Departments/Centres.

A. Incentive for publications in high impact factor journals

In order to encourage faculty members and researchers to publish in quality journals Jamia Hamdard has the following two schemes:

1. Cash incentive is provided to faculty members, post-doctoral fellows and research scholars for publication in reputed journals with high impact factors.
2. Cash incentive is also provided to faculty members for their highly cited publications.

Cash incentive and appreciation certificate are provided at the National Science Day function (February 28).

<Guidelines for Cash Incentive for Publications>

B. Research Promotion Grant (seed money) for newly recruited teachers

Jamia Hamard started this scheme to support newly recruited faculty in their effort to set their foot and also to generate proof of concept for major research funding applications to funding agencies. A research grant and some funds to hire Research Assistant have been provided to selected faculty members. Selection for Research Promotion Grant is provided based on assessment of research proposal submitted by the faculty member.

<Guidelines for Research Promotion Grant>

<Detail of Beneficiaries>

C. Emergent Research Support

Financial support is provided to research scholars and faculty members for meeting out contingent expenses from the university funds.

D. Hamdard National Foundation Fellowships

A limited number of fellowships are awarded to meritorious research scholars by our sponsors – Hamdard National Foundation (HNF). Fellowship carries monthly remuneration and research grant.

<Detail of HNF Fellowship Awardees as on 25-10-2022>